LORD STOPPED; GRETKOWSKI SHINES IN 67-60 VICTORY

By Jim Breagy

There's wailing and gnashing of teeth across the Winooski tonight as those terrible Catamounts were tamed by the Purple Knights to the tune of 67-60 in a hard-fought battle at the Burlington Memorial Auditorium.

The Cats came into this one with a 10 and 2 record and Clyde Lord's 22.3 game average. Both of these lofty marks were injured as the Knights added a loss to the record and held the high scoring Vermont sophomore to seven points.

Herbert, Ball, Coronation Highlight Winter Carnival

Miss Barbara O'Neill of Teaneck, N.J., was crowned Queen of the 1957 Winter Carnival last Saturday night at the Snow Follies Ball to climax the entire weekend. Miss O'Neill was escorted by Senior George Smith and was crowned by Outing Club President, John Yula.

OPENING RECEPTION

The weekend opened with a spring-like day on Friday, February 8. A warm sun and soft breezes from Lake Champlain, a reception and buffet supper in the lounge combined to launch the festivities.

After the buffet supper the couples adjourned to Austin Hall where Pierre Pellitier and his band provided music for dancing. The "come as you are" dance featured a night club effect with soft music and the song styling of Burlington's Sue Wilson.

SNOW SCULPTORS

With a change in the weather Saturday, a wet snow failed to dampen the spirits of those in attendance. Although the Inter-class ski competition was postponed, the snow sculptures survived long enough to be judged. The juniors, with a portrayal of the Snow Follies Queen, won the competition and were awarded 25 points toward the Interclass Trophy. The sophomore's entry was a student with skis in one hand and books in the other, while the freshmen erected a giant ski boot. The Outing Club built a plaque welcoming all to the weekend and the seniors left a pile of snow as a reminder of the work they put into the Carnival.

A cold and damp afternoon set the stage for the St. Michael's - Middlebury basketball game in which the Knights trampled the Panthers, 94-68.

SEMI-FORMAL BALL

Saturday night the Snow Follies Ball was the highlight of the weekend. Austin Hall, dressed in the finery of the Carnival, beautiful girls and the music of Ted Herbert made the dance enjoyable for all.

At the coronation, the Queen was presented with a floral bouquet, portable radio, free ticket to the weekend and a photo album for both she and the King.

Sunday, a "Skier's Mass" was said at 7:30 A.M., with the bus leaving for Stowe at 9:30. A day of skiing closed the activities in fine fashion.

Many praise worthy remarks were addressed to the committee. Ed Meyer, co-chairman of the committee, said "The weekend went over tremendously well and was a great social success. The credit for the beautiful decorations in Austin Hall goes to Tony Michel and all the Mr.'s and Mrs.'s from 'Miketown.' It was truly one of the best weekends held here at St. Michael's."

Council Votes To Seat Hungarian Delegation

By Peter Fearey

At Tuesday night's meeting the Student Council unanimously voted to invite two members of the newly formed Hungarian Student's Senate to attend Council meetings for the remainder of the year. The two members invited will not be seated as regular members but will be able to voice their opinions. In making the motion, Senior representative Robert Donoghue stated that he felt it would be a fitting gesture due to the fact that the Hungarians represent such a large segment of the student body.

HALEY REPORTS

Joseph Haley, chairman of the lounge committee, submitted his financial report to date. A total of $1945 was spent in decorating the lounge. A gift from the Senior Class, proceeds from the lounge dance, and money donated by the administration were used to pay the bill. Altogether $2127 was donated to the lounge fund, leaving a balance of $182 to continue work on the lounge. This balance will be used to purchase more furniture and also for magazine subscriptions.

Interclass point totals as of Feb. 4 were given by Walt Bellcourt as follows:

Seniors:
Football	40
Tennis	2
Interclass Play	10
Basketball	35
Total	87
Juniors:
Football	30
Interclass Play	25
Basketball	15
Total	70
Sophomores:
Football	20
Tennis	3
Basketball	15
Total	38
Freshmen:
Tennis	5
Interclass Play	5
Basketball	5

LECTURE

The Student Council voted approval for the lecture series committee to hold a lecture February 14. Held in Science Hall, the discussion was on Life Behind the Iron Curtain. The lecture was in the form of a panel discussion with four American students questioning four of the Hungarians students. Admittance was by invitation only. Committee chairman Bill Chaisson stated that the lecture was closed for psychological reasons. Chaisson explained that lectures held earlier in the year had been open to the entire student body and the response had not been good. By limiting the attendance privilege, he hopes to arouse interest.

President John Eaton appointed Dick Manning chairman of a committee to draft a suitable motion for send-

IN PASSING

The Winter Carnival Weekend has now left its '57 imprint and just how successful was it?

Judging from the standpoint of its eventfulness and variety, we must congratulate the Outing Club for an excellent job. But taking the most important problem, the attendance, we can't understand it. The main cry of many students is often the old adage, no social life. But when a weekend is planned and only 110 students attend, we wonder, 'Do we really want any social life?'

Probing the situation a little further, the Outing Club President, as customary, submitted his budget to the Student Council and it was questioned. After the various ways of suggesting, the Council finally managed to cut $400 from the budget. The Outing Club then went ahead to plan as carefully as possible in order to provide for the weekend.

What was their big problem?...student participation. The hundred-ten couples along with the faculty had an enjoyable time. But what happened to the social criers? And those who thought the budget was a little too expensive? The brunt of the burden is not the Outing Club's responsibility but the students who did not attend.

Incidentally, the expenditures exceeded the budget by $400 because of only the 110 couples!

A WORTHY NOTE

One of the greatest displays of Michaelman spirit took place a couple of weeks ago on and around our campus. This day we all remember as H-Day, Thursday, January 24.

From 1 P.M., Thursday afternoon until 11 P.M. several hundred students canvassed the Burlington area and collected a total of over $2800 as spending money for our new Michaelmen, the 'Hungarian Freedom Fighters'.

The general drive actually began last Sunday with a clothes collection throughout the campus. Then after contacts through the local radio and TV stations and the dailies, SMC embarked on an area-wide appeal for furnishings and finally the fund-raising program on Thursday.

Funds are still being received and the goal of $3,000 as designated by the Student Council, has tangible results. Besides the efforts of all the students who gave their assistance to the clothes or money drive, we take this opportunity to express a word of appreciation to John Eaton, President of the Student Council and Chairman of the Drive, and Arthur Kirwin, for their laudable work.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"My advice would be not to drop school to go into your father's business -- you need a college education these days to find success and financial security."

'Sign' Reports Funerals Have One Purpose

UNION CITY, N.J.,--American funeral customs, says Rev. Kilian McDonnell, O.S.B., Benedictine theologian, "find most of their motivation in one desire; to hide the fact of death. The corpse is rouged up to look natural. One funeral parlor advertises: 'A lifelike appearance is the aim of our highest endeavor."

Writing in the February issue of The Sign, national Catholic magazine published here, the Benedictine monk adds "the much more natural approach would be: 'As long as I am alive, I want to look alive; and when I am dead, I want to look dead, good and dead.'"

"Quite understandable", says Father McDonnell, "is the good pagan's attitude toward death. For him death is the end, final and definitive. Beyond death there is no life, no love, no person; just void and emptiness."

Father McDonnell declares, "If I were a good pagan, I think I would welcome anything, literally anything, that would create the illusion of life and deny the reality of death. I think, possibly, I would welcome the restorative arts of the beautician to give me a natural, lifelike appearance, to create an illusion of life. I would be only too happy to be laid out in a steel casket (which in turn would be lowered into a steel vault) with its orchid quilting and its great pleated pillow. And I would welcome the organ music filtering through the artificial grill from the record player behind."

However, the article adds, "A Christian cannot live as a pagan, neither can he die as a pagan. Nor can he weep as a pagan. Nor bury his dead as a pagan."

Father McDonnell concludes: "The Christian was made for God. However, he can completely attain God only through death. The Christian fears death because it is the destruction of his nature. But through the power of the sacraments of the dying the Christian embraces his fear of death and makes it holy. To the whole man, body and soul, the Christ whom the dying man has just received in Holy Viaticum speaks, 'I am the Resurrection and the Life.' This is how the Christian dies. And in this spirit we weep and bury our dead."

Fund Drive Nets $5,600 To Date

Mr. Thomas Kenney, Alumni Secretary, revealed that the Loyalty Fund Drive has made a very good start. Already $5,600 has been collected towards the goal of $25,000. The deadline for this drive is May 31.

The Century Club, which includes all members who have donated $100 or more, already has 15 members. An additional goal of the drive will be to increase membership in this club and also to gain participation from 40% of the alumni, an increase of 11% over last year.

All the money collected during this drive will be used for the fulfillment of programs now being planned at St. Michael's.

Your prayers are requested for the speedy recovery of Mrs. John Donoghue, wife of St. Michael's Public Relations Director, who underwent an operation this week.

General Staff Meeting of the MICHAELMAN, Monday at 7 P.M. in Aquinas 208. Mr. Donoghue will speak.

Well, the riotous Winter Carnival is behind us now and the great migration back to campus is just about over. The five or six couples who managed to remain for the gala affair had the entire Green Mountain area all to themselves. Even with only a small representation the Weekend appears to have been more successful than was expected. The Student Council only lost twenty thousand dollars on the ever-popular social function.

There was one activity that deserves special attention. It seems that our "Administration" decided to launch an advertising campaign during the Winter Weekend. From Mineola, Long Island, twenty High School students were invited to sample "Life at St. Michael's." Whether or not this was the most opportune time to display what our humble academy has to offer is not for us to decide, but.....

A well-rounded activities program had been planned for our temporary guests, but due to our unpredictable weather swimming, tennis, and golf had to be dropped from the big calendar of events. Most of the guys just lounged around in the two feet of slush circumventing our own "Fort Henry." That fabulous film about "Integration Unlimited" was scheduled to be shown but "Baby Doll" had not yet been removed from the projector so the twenty disappointed gents had to return to their rooms, which were incidentally in luxurious Alumni Hall, to amuse themselves.

This was where the trouble originated. In an effort to keep busy they discovered a new game called "Look in the closet and if it fits take it home." This wouldn't have been too bad, but after exhausting the garment line they looked out of the windows for signs of civilization, but not finding any they returned to their sport. This time it was "Do You Need A Typewriter or Record Player????" When the rooms were completely emptied of all valuables our reception committee cordially escorted these well-meaning lads to their trucks, helped them load up and bade them farewell with a pleasant, "Do come again." Thus some of our returning Michaelmen found one or two articles out of order. It has been reported that Room 304 has been misplaced. We happen to be alumni of this Long Island institution, but evidently the Progressive System has been employed since our graduation. Oh well, "boys will be boys".....

* * * * *

(1). "What do you mean leave the room???"
(2). "Troubles with your homework???"
(3). "No one steps into the alley with street shoes on.."
(4). "Wait till the next frame..."

This, of course, is familiar banter in Alumni Hall. The new ever-popular "pocket pin" seems to have been stimulated by the inter-class bowling activities and has risen to such great heights that a beautiful gold-plated trophy, in the form of a coke bottle is being thought of by the administration.

Woods Sporting Goods recently had a strange order that perplexed even the sportest-minded salesman. "Whoever heard of a tennis ball with three holes in it????"

Enough of the game and its quirks, now down to the gentlemen who through hours of tedious practice make this sport possible at the inconvenience of all. These are not the professionals who advertise Camels or Luckies on the back of "Look" or "Life", but rather plain ordinary college men who look on these years as the "character-moulding" portion of their lives and follow the old adage, "sport develops fair play..." These are the "characters" who claim that college isn't "all" study and certainly prove it with Kelvin Scale grades.

With a brief insight into the new rage and its competitors we don't want you to imagine that we dislike "Hall Ball," for it offers some interesting advantages to those of us who need a little extra each week. If it's impossible to tutor, work in the Chow Hall, the library or the Book Store, be sure to contact several of our team captains. Providing your union card is good you're guaranteed a position as a pinboy, Coke drinker, or alley sander. Why not join the crowd and bowl your way to a degree????????

LATEST RUMOR:

"There will be no classes during the month of March ....." The reason for this is that the 1957 United Nations field trip will take place at St. Michael's and classroom accommodations will be necessary. Consult bulletin boards for further developments.....

Versatile Andreanszky Interprets, Counsels

By Jim Canavan

When the prospect of admitting 100 Hungarian students to St. Michael's was first presented, it was obvious to the administration that many problems would be encountered in such a venture. Questions of living quarters, classrooms, equipment, instructors, dining facilities, etc., had to be solved in advance. Yet it was also obvious that problems of acclamation to the American way of life by the Hungarians could not be met in advance. These would necessitate an English-Hungarian speaking counselor, administrator and interpreter. The one man filling these three positions is Charles Andreanszky.

Charles Andreanszky, interpreter and counselor for the Hungarian students, is shown helping a student use a tape recorder to learn English. He has proved to be a vital link in co-ordinating the Hungarians' acclamation to St. Michael's.

EARLY DUTIES

Andreanszky presently lives among the Hungarian students in St. John's 106. He first came to St. Michael's in early January to aid in preparations and then met each group of students as they arrived periodically. He then aided their initial settlement, answering an endless stream of questions and constantly acting as an interpreter. Working closely with Michaelmen throughout the clothing and money drives, the 33 year old consultant seemed to be everywhere, helping, advising, smoothing rough edges of procedure.

The story of Andreanszky's appointment to this position is an interesting and exciting one. It begins in 1945 at the close of WWII when the Russians were first crushing Hungarian freedom. He was then a student and fought against the invading Russians in the university students legion. After six months of fighting he was wounded, placed in a hospital in Vienna and then an English prisoner of war camp in northern Germany.

ENTERS AMERICA

Escaping from camp in October of '45, he sought his family in Austria, then married and remained there until 1952. He then came to the U.S. under the Displaced Persons Act and began working in a small New York City factory.

During the three years he spent in Manhatten, Andreanszky mastered English. He also speaks French, German and his native tongue. In 1955 he formed a very successful carpenter business with five friends in Clifton, N.J.

CAMP KILMER

When the Hungarian revolt occurred and refugees began pouring into Austria, desire for patriotic service caused him to leave his successful business enterprise temporarily. He assumed the student selection service desk in Camp Kilmer, the American camp for Hungarian refugees, for the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

This appointment came about as a result of his association since 1947 with the Pax Romana, a world-wide organization of Catholic students. The NFCCS is the American branch of this organization. At the time of the appointment he was, and still is, a permanent staff member of Pax Romana's delegation to the U.N.

Since the revolution over 24,000 refugees have arrived at Camp Kilmer and Andreanszky interviewed 700 students to select those who would continue their studies in America.

As the flow of students to the camp ebbed, he was asked to head one of the two language training programs for the students. He was selected for this position by the Institute of International Education, which is organizing the entire program for American education of Hungarian refugee students. It was in acceptance of this request that Andreanszky came to St. Michael's and he will remain here for the entire 15 week training period.

At this time his duties are mainly to act as a consultant and administrator for the Hungarians. He was recently instrumental in organizing a Hungarian student association, which elected a government of a Senate and President. He also works closely with college authorities on problems which do arise.

This is not his first patriotic activity since coming to America. Since 1954 he served on the Political Committee of an organization known as the American Friends of Anti-Bolshevistic Nations. This organization was formed by representatives of 12 behind-the-iron-curtain nations in 1950 with the purpose of expressing the real feeling of the people in these communist ruled countries. He is still a member of this organization.

Andreanszky has also been very active in youth movements all his life. He has been closely connected with the Hungarian Boy Scouts, which were forced underground by Communists in 1948, as a lifetime scoutmaster. He is now the Foreign Secretary of this association, temporarily based in America rather than Hungary.

ENOUGH WASN'T DONE

Commenting in the recent revolution in Hungary, Andreanszky stated, "With the smallest sign of outside help, all nations behind the iron curtain would attempt to throw off the yoke of Communism. Without outside help, after the bitter experience of the Hungarian revolution, none will dare to do it." He added that he felt the Hungarian people do not bear bitterness against America but feel that much more could have been done by the U.N. in passing firmer resolutions or sending a police force the Hungary. "From Oct. 23 through Nov. 4, when all the borders of Hungary were opened, either would have been workable," he concluded.

Student Lounge Now Completed

The student lounge in Alumni Hall was officially christened last weekend, with a buffet supper held as part of the activities of the Winter Carnival.

The project was originally begun three weeks after the school year opened, when Stu-Council President, John Eaton named Joe Haley to chairman a student lounge committee. Included on the committee were Dom Villoni, Pete Ruselowski, Bob Shea, Al Brault and Joe Guarnaccia. Rev. John Scully, SSE, was appointed by Rev. James Coombs, SSE, Council moderator, to work with the committee and give any official sanctions necessary during the operation.

PROGRESS

The first step taken by this committee was to procure material for drapes, devise a color scheme, and have the material dyed and sewn. At the same time the committee members, as well as Fr. Scully, were hard at work repairing some used tables and chairs to have them in that "good as new" category when the lounge was ready for occupancy.

Previous to the Christmas recess, the senior class voted to give as it's class gift the floor for the lounge as well as whatever furnishings could be obtained with the balance. During this same period, the committee and Fr. Scully chose a pattern of furniture to be used in the lounge, and sent in the order. The finances for these came as a result of a dance sponsored specifically for the lounge by the Council and over-whelmingly supported by the student body.

The completion of the floor was delayed because of a strike among tile manufacturers, which in turn postponed the opening of the lounge after Christmas as had been planned.

FINANCIAL SURPLUS

At last Tuesday's meeting of the Council, Haley submitted a financial report to date showing that $182 remains from a total of $2,128 designed especially for the lounge. He further stated, "It is a wonderful feeling to know that the aim of the Council, particularly Fr. Scully and the committee, has been achieved. When we first undertook the project we had no idea that such progress would or could be made. What has happened is a direct result of much hard work. Another factor which greatly hastened the completion was the generosity of the senior class in giving the floor as their gift. Without that lift we might not have had a lounge for quite some time."

The remainder of the money, Haley stated, will be used to purchase additional furnishings as well as paintings and a mural for the walls. He added that a S.M.C. banner has been donated by the Alumni Office and that plans are being made to have an enlargement of the Michaelman's Creed made and placed in the lounge.

"Knightlights" Seeks Equipment

Having completed the search for talented performers, "Knightlights" producers are now seeking equipment which will be needed for the production. Rev. Edward Leary, S.S.E., Director and Harry Knight, Business Director, currently are faced with a need for a set of Bongo drums. Any student who may be of assistance in ending this quest should contact Fr. Leary immediately.

The drums are needed for an act featuring calipso music, which is included in theme of "Far Away Places." A continuity of acts around this theme has been adopted this year in a livelier approach to the annual variety show. A cross section of folk music from countries around the world will be heard.

PRODUCTION POLICY

For more than 25 years "Knightlights" has been presented annually by the Mission Crusade. "In the past," stated Fr. Leary, the show has had its' ups and downs in performance and sales. However, the procedure has been for the show to be too dependent on the jokes of the master of ceremonies to determine its' success. This year with the show centered around a theme it will sell itself."

The witty duo of Dick Manning and Jack Aneser are the masters of ceremonies for the show. Their humor will be directed to help carry the audience from one country to another throughout the performance.

A public relations committee is now being formed by John Cogan. He is currently planning a presentation of segments of the show on radio and television.

Director Casts Dramatic Roles

Final casting for the Palm Sunday passion play "Shekels" is drawing to a close. Dr. Armando Citarella, director and moderator of Knights and Knaves, released today the names of the new members of the production.

The additions to the cast of the play, written by William T. Walsh, are: Fred McLachlan, as Achas; Ken O'Neill, Malchus; William Willig, Jacob; Alfred Murphy, Garmaliel; Steve Schryver, Longinus; Louella Apiki, Mary Magdalene; Maxine Kaiser, The Blessed Virgin; Paula O'Connor, a maid servant; Ralph Bramucci, Simon of Cyrene and Robert Wilk as Pilate.

REHEARSALS PROGRESSING

Dr. Citarella, who is also active in the St. Michael's Playhouse and the Burlington Theatre Club, said rehearsals were in full swing for the production. The plot centers around Judas' betrayal of Christ.

The play is being performed by the Knights and Knaves dramatic society in five acts. Sponsored by the Burlington Holy Name Society, proceeds will be used towards the construction of a new Catholic High School in the Burlington area.

"Shekels", the third passion play to be given by the Knights and Knaves, will take place in the Burlington Memorial Auditorium.

The Campus is My Beat

By Tom Leavitt

Old soldiers in SMC's three Humanities platoons will be interested in reading "'Operation Great Books' on the Northern Front", published in the January issue of the Catholic Educational Review and written by Major Henry G. Fairbanks, a Company CO.

Major Fairbank's company is located, according to him, in the "frozen north", where a holding action is being conducted against "Chaos and Old Night" in the "Battle of the Books". The CO warns that "We can hold on indefinitely,... but we can't risk overextension by committing ourselves to all-out engagement without proper support." He concludes that "...up here where the foot soldier must slog along through mud or snow, rookie or vet, will tell you: 'It all depends on the situation and the terrain.'"

Under guise of all this spoofing, Dr. Fairbanks, whom all of us know as organizer and chairman of the Humanities Division here at SMC, speaks seriously to his liberal arts colleagues who would wipe out all curriculums of specialization en masse, without stopping to reflect on the damage that might be done and the few resulting gains to be had without proper preparation.

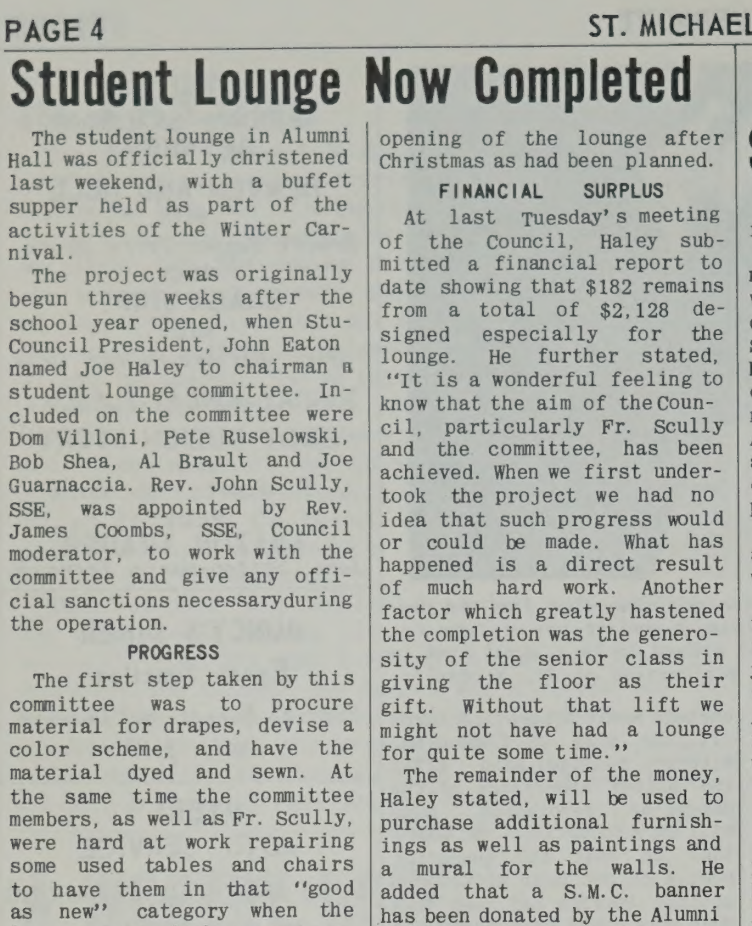
He has a point and he makes it in the same meaningful manner that he uses in pointing out the value and beauty of Dante's "Inferno", "Beowulf" and the remaining 34 books in the Humanities sequence.

Most telling, as far as we students are concerned, is his second-to-last paragraph, in which he notes:

> "Naturally, new men gripe about the long hours under fire. But I've noticed that even the saddest sack has had some preparation for our style combat back in Basic. Matter of fact, most of them adjust pretty fast (something I can't say for the draftees still drilling with "Phil" and "Theo" Companies). My main problem is keeping big heads from outgrowing helmets in the thrill of combat, or from sneering at "rear-echelon jokers" still doing push-ups and "columns right." Pride in outfit is one thing. But this para-trooper mentality is something else."

Of less universal appeal, but of interest to English concentrators is an article, also written by Dr. Fairbanks, on "Sin, Free Will and 'Pessimism' In Hawthorne" in the December 1956 issue of PLMA, (Publication of the Modern Language Association of America.

Getting back to the Humanities and Great Books, there's a work called "Great Books: Panacea or What", written by Edward A. Fitzpatric, which discusses rationally some of the problems facing educators who use the Great Books as the core of their curriculums, or in Adult Education. Students having read several of the Great Books and questioning what value they have, would enjoy reading this text, which serves to remind us, as does Dr. Fairbanks, that the Great Books alone are not the answer to the problem of who and how we can educate all or most of America's youth.



It's a puzzlement:

When you're old enough to go to college, you're old enough to go out with girls. When you're old enough to go out with girls, who needs college? Oh well, there's always Coke.

SMC FROSH ROMP OVER KITS 75-53

In the little St. Mikes - U.V.M. game played earlier this week, the St. Michael's Squires overpowered their cross-river rivals 75-53 at the U.V.M. gym. A real team effort, the win was the second of the season over the Kittens for Ed Markey's smooth running club.

GOOD START

Off on the right foot, the Squires showed some good passwork in their characteristic fast break. Though neither club dominated the boards, the shooting of Tom O'Rourke and "Moose" Zietler paced the Squires who led 32-12 midway through the first stanza. Throughout first half, the Kittens shooting percentage was noticeably poor, this attributable to the fine defensive play of Don Jones and Dick Zietler. The Purple halftime edge was 43-24.

CHANGE OF PACE

The opening minutes of the second half saw the Markeymen using a more deliberate style of play. Jim Browne, with a variety of shots, went on an 11 point scoring spree which drew many oohs and ahs. And though the Kittens chose this time to produce their biggest point rally, the Hilltoppers from Winooski Park held a 58-41 lead.

MANY FOULS

With many fouls being called on both clubs the play became somewhat less polished. And with the scoring tapering off the contest closed with the Squires on the long end of a 75-53 count.

Jim Browne was high for the Squires, tossing through 23 markers, followed by Zietler with 17. The Kittens were led by Giardeno's 20 points.

AFROTC Band Plays Concert In Saranac N.Y.

The St. Michael's College Air Force ROTC band will be featured at the Winter Carnival in Saranac Lake, N.Y. this weekend.

The 32 piece band was invited by the Air Force Ground Obserser Coprs to perform in the parade and to present a band concert Saturday afternoon. Led by Cadet Capt. James Gibbs, and with Capt. Wirt Griggs as faculty advisor, the band has been given some special coaching by a show business veteran, Art Landry, WCAX-TV star.

Landry, who has had long experience in directing bands for shows, recording dates, radio and television, volunteered to help the band which will be performing near his home. He spent several rehearsal sessions with the band on campus.

Marches, patriotic, musical comedy and folk medleys will be featured as well as concert selections by the St. Michael's band. Arrangements have been made to put the students up in private homes. They will travel in Air Force buses.

While the band has performed often in and around Burlington, this will be its first out of state engagement.

CLOWNING

He also reminded Council members that they are to be properly attired at meetings or would be considered absent. This statement was then used to attempt for the second time to suspend the referendum. Negative voters of the first ballot were declared absent due to improper dress. The attempt was thwarted through a display of buffoonery by certain Senior delegates.

St. Michael's lost the lead only once, but came back, despite the partisan Vermont crowd, to clinch the victory. The turning point of the game came when the pressure was on the Knights. After losing the lead with 9:36 left on the clock, 43-44, Tony Nicodemo, Hank Gretkowski and Bill Kuchar combined to outscore the Cats 15-8 in the next five minutes. UVM never came back after this.

EARLY LEAD

In the first 10 minutes it looked like another Purple Rout. It was not until the 12:30 mark that Skippy Burkhardt scored the initial Vermont field goal. At that time the Knights were leading 22-8 as Gretkowski, Wegrzynski and Kuchar were controlling the rebounds and scoring almost at will. At the 15:50 mark the ailing Drew Denmead and Wegrzynski, who had collected three fouls, were rested by Coach "Doc" Jacobs for the remainder of the half as the Cats came back part way to cut the lead to 10 points as the teams left the floor with the score 34-24, St. Michael's.

CATS CAME BACK

Knight fans got a real scare in the second half as the Catamounts bounced back to cut the deficit and take the lead. In the first 11 and a half minutes, they outscored the Purple Quintet 20 to 9 as Stan Lefkowitz and Bobby Kuchar combined getting 6 and 10 points respectively. Tony Nicodemo, who again replaced Denmead, gave St. Michael's fans much cause for grief as he twice fouled Bobby Kuchar who complied with 4 free throws to take the lead for Vermont 44-43. Tony wasted no time redeeming himself! He started the rout of the next five minutes with 2 jump-shots. From here the Knights went on to win as they drew five fouls in the last three minutes from the full court-pressing Catamounts. One was a technical called on Bob Kuchar for too vigorously protesting a charging foul called on Lefkowitz.

GRETKOWSKI - DIFFERENCE

Hank Gretkowski had fans in awe throughout the game as his tremendous rebounding sometimes carried him halfway up the backboard. In all, Big Hank collected 22 rebounds while his tap-ins and jump-shots gave him the game high total of 25 points. In the final minutes when the game was in doubt his rebounding was a vital factor. Hank, combined with Capt. Cieplicki, Big John Wegrzynski and Drew Denmead to keep the Cats' Lord and Lefkowitz from driving in. It was Lord's downfall and if it wasn't for Lefkowitz' hot night from the outside the Knights would have probably won by a 15 or 20 point margin.

SENIORS RETAIN LEAD

The Seniors maintained their unbeaten streak this week as they just pushed passed a highly spirited Junior team by a 53-48 count. The win gave the Seniors a 2-0 record for the 2nd half of loop play and a 8-0 record for the year so far. The loss maned the Juniors into the cellar with no victories against 2 defeats.

CLOSELY FOUGHT

The game was a closely fought contest throughout with the Juniors holding a slim lead at half time 24-23. With George Smith and Jack Coffey coming back strong in the 2nd half the Seniors maned out in front and were never again behind. Setting the pace in scoring for the Seniors was Coffey and Smith with 10 and 14 points respectfully. Roger Diot with 14 points and Ray Naton with 10 points led the Juniors in the individual scoring honors.

FROSH IN TIE

The following night saw the Freshmen win their first game of the season with a 54 to 42 victory over the Sophomores. The win put the freshmen into a tie with the Sophomores for 2nd place each having one victory against one defeat. Losing by a 18-17 score at half time the Freshmen came back strong and completely dominated the play in the 2nd half. Bert Burtis played a spectacular game fro the 1st year men as he constantly set his men up for baskets while getting 16 points himself.

GRIFFIN STILL LEADS

Pete Griffin kept his grip on the individual league scoring lead by getting 11 points as did his teammate Tom Cummings. For the Sophomores it was big Neil Shea who set the pace in scoring with 12 points while Tom Fisher contributed 8 points in a losing cause

GIANTS ON HILLTOP AGAIN NEXT SUMMER

Officials of the Burlington Chamber of Commerce have announced that the National Football Champion New York Giants will again use the St. Michael's College campus and athletic facilities as their base of training operations this coming summer.

The Champs will open their camp here on July 19 and leave for the All-Star Game in Chicago on August 7. In full, the announcement said "The world champion New York Football Giants definitely will return to St. Michael's College next summer for a three weeks' training period preparatory to their All-Star game in Chicago on August 9."

Giant President, John V. Mara has said that Vermont fans and tourists in the area during the summer will have an opportunity to attend the workouts and see the Giants perfecting their plays.

KNIGHTS IN CARNIVAL JUGGERNAUT

The Winter Carnival crowd got a look at the Purple Knights at their best last Saturday afternoon as they overwhelmed the Middlebury Panthers 94-68 at the Auditorium.

The game was never in doubt as the Purple Five jumped off to a big lead to leave the floor at half time with a big 48-21 advantage.

All five starters hit double figures as Bill Kuchar and Gretkowski both hit 20 or more points. Wegrzynski and Denmead had 10 each while Cieplicki had 14. "Doc" Jacobs cleaned the bench using all his reserves.

Charlie Sykes maintained his double figure average getting 14 points for Midd. while Jim Wagner had 10.

The high-riding Knights continued their supremacy in their second consecutive quest for the State Title. The opposition that fell to the hardwood lost Wednesday evening, before the title gazing Jacobmen, was none other than our neighboring college from across the river, U.V.M. The Catamounts realized, after ten minutes of play, that their impregnable zone was being bombarded and that a rebound was as rare as a warm day in January; but the half ended with the Hilltoppers holding on to a 34-24 decision before the Vermonters could adjust to the unfriendly surroundings. Fuzzy Evans inspired his troupe and the second half found the Michaelmen in the back-seat watching their ten point advantage dwindle to a one point deficit. When the final buzzer dounded, however, it was Gretkowski, Kuchar and Wegrzynski who were knighted for their fine evening's efforts. Eat many Spaulding sandwiches, Clyde?

This Sunday evening the peremmial power from Manchester, N.H., will envade the Auditorium to try their basket making skill against the Purple Knights. St. Anslem's has always offered the Purple and Gold a tough go for a victory, and with four of last year's five starters returning the Hawks will want to sooth last year's 100-87 set-back. St. A's. have defeated Boston College and Brandeis thus far this season and they've administered Assumption College's lone set back of the year.

The Purple Squires are also riding the crest of a victorious campaign with the approaching possibility of avenging their only defeat of the campaign when they play the Dartmouth Frosh again in two weeks.

Fred McGovern, former Somerville, Mass., performer, has added his scoring technique to the Frosh assemblage, while Dick Zietler and Donny Jones master the rebound department, Daddy-Jim Browne and Tom O'Rourke guide the attack from their back-court positions. Coach Markey has reason to be pleased with his smooth moving, high scoring Yearlings.

Chit Chat:

The 1956-57 World Champion Boston Celtics (?) have been succoured in their home stretch drive by the addition of Frank Ramsey ... Bill Russell could possibly be teammate Tom Heinshon's greatest competitor for "Rookie of the Year Award," this is quite a dilemma when you have two top-notch rookies on the first team especially when you also have the league's M.U.P. in Mr. Cousy, and the N.B.A. top marksmen in the person of Bill Sharman as teammates.
